Reports

The system can produce reports to suit all applications. Each vehicle has a suite of standard reports available to it. The reports can be downloaded with a very few operations. They then can be exported in to main stream formats such as excel or connected operators or suppliers own software.

All reports can be generated across multiples of equipment type, location and drivers. The time frames can be set to generate a report from a day to number of years.

In addition to this any auxiliary that is fitted can have its own report and again it can be generated across equipment type, drivers and locations.

If there is a specific need for a local report then the software can be tailor made to suit that need.

Part of the initial consultation will be to determine the reports that fall into the standard suite of reports and reports that are tailored to particular operator's requirements.
